LOOK UP AND LOOK FORWARD

THE STARTING POINT

You do not have to stop looking up to start looking forward.

THE UNDERSTANDING

Faith in God and faith in yourself do not have to compete. You can believe in God while also believing in your ability to learn, make decisions, take responsibility, and solve problems.

THE HORIZON

When you look up, you see the sky. When you look forward, you see the horizon, where the sky appears to meet the ground. You move toward what you believe in by taking steps with what you can do.

THE PRINCIPLE

You add, you do not replace. And you subtract what you do not need to know. You can release the idea that one kind of faith must cancel the other.

Look up for inspiration. Look forward to move.

A starting point for investigating faith, understanding, and responsibility.
